

Alison Rendle – professional executive coach

If you're interested in working with me, you may wish to know more about my professional credentials. Please read on ...

Qualifications and accreditations

Certified Coaching Supervisor, accredited by the Association for Coaching.

Advanced Certificate in Executive Coaching, accredited at masters' level by Bristol Business School and at level 7 by the Institute of Leadership and Management. This qualification included a masters' level research study into the role of coaching in leadership development.

NLP Practitioner, accredited by the Association of NLP.

Full member of the Association of Coaching, and accredited under their Executive Coach accreditation scheme. I abide by their code of ethics.

CPD

I read widely in academic and practical texts around leadership and coaching. I invest in extensive CPD to maintain the highest possible standards in my work.

Supervision

I attend regular supervision with a range of different coaching supervisors to hone my professional practice as a coach and ensure that I provide the best possible service for my clients.

Insurance and DBS checks

I hold appropriate public liability and professional indemnity insurances.

I have an enhanced DBS check for working with children.

References and testimonials

Testimonials from previous clients can be found on my website. If you would like to take up any references directly from people I have worked with, please ask.

May 2021